NOTES

I. Classical Armenian.

I.1. General.

The Old Armenian forms were extracted from the standard Old Armenian - English dictionary [Bedrossian 1875-9], and checked against the editions of the Armenian Bible [Künzle 1984; Zōhrapean 1805] as well as against the relevant editions of the early classical texts included into the Armenian Classical Authors series [Agat'angelos 2003;

Ehišē 2003; Koriwn 2003]. The main part of our corpus is dated to the 5th century AD.

The entries are provided with concise grammatical information on the declension and conjugation types when applicable. The textual evidence illustrating the use of a word is followed by comments on its origin. Some entries include information on lexical items which are attested as contextual synonyms of the entry lemmas in the early classical texts.

1.2. Transliteration.

Two transliteration methods are applied in the entries. The Classical Armenian lemmas that are discussed as candidates to the Swadesh list are transliterated using the Unified Transcription System (UTS) for the Global Lexicostatical Database. The textual evidence is rendered according to the traditional armenological transliteration.

The general disclaimer concerning the use of UTS for an ancient language applies. The exact phonetic interpretation of phonemes, let alone allophones, is impossible for Classical Armenian despite its rather precise alphabetic writing system. The UTS notation, introduced to maintain the cross-linguistic comparison of the phonological shape of words, should rather be considered as a variety of phonological transliteration than a phonetic transcription. See [Clackson 2008] for the primary discussion of Classical Armenian phonetics.

The traditional and UTS correspondences to the letters of the Armenian alphabet are given in the table below:

Classical Armenian amen-ayn {ամենայն} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 15. F. i-stem. Polysemy: 'all (omnis) / all (totus)'. Mtth. 9: 35: {Ew šj ēr Yisus and amenayn k'atak's ew and geawts} [Künzle 1984: 11] "Jesus was going through all the cities and villages" [NASB]; Mtth. 5: 29: {zi law ē k'ez e'ē mi yandamoc' koc' koric'ē, ew mi amenayn marmind k'o ankanic'i i gehen} [Künzle 1984: 11] "for it is better for you to lose one of the parts of your body, than for your whole body to be thrown into hell" [NASB].

Derived from amen {ամեն} 'all', i-stem, which is marginally attested in the sense of 'all (omnis)'. Koriwn The Life of Mashtots, Ch. 26: {zamēn mnac'ealsn yanjn a ĩēr šnorhac'ın Astucoy} [Koriwn 2003: 254] "he surrendered to God's grace those who remained" [Abeghyan 1981: 297].

Another derivative from amen is amenek'in {ամենեքին} and its variant amenek'ean {ամենեքեան} 'all persons; everybody', both n-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 16]. Mtth. 13: 56: {ew k'ork' sora oč' amenek'in a ĩmez?} [Künzle 1984: 36] "And his sisters, are they not all with us?" [NASB].

From PIE sem-/sm-* 'one' [Schmitt 2007: 168].

The meaning 'entire (totus)' can also be expressed by bolou {բոլոյ}, i-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 104]. Acts 8: 37: {E'ē hawatas bolorov srtiuv k'v, mart' ē} [Zöhrapēan 1805, 4: 262] "If you believe with all your heart, you may" [NASB].

2. ASHES

Classical Armenian moxi {մոխի} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 485. o-stem. Mtth. 11: 21: {valu ew s ardewk' xorgov ew moxrov apašxareal ēr} [Künzle 1984: 27] "they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes" [NASB].

Etymology is unclear.

3. BARK

Classical Armenian ket-ew {կեղեւ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 340. o-stem. Wis. 13: 11: {ok' ataljagorc hewsn, zp'ayt inč' gelec'ik sloč'eal, k'ereac' čartarut'eamb zamenayn ketew nora} [Zöhrapēan 1805, 3: 254] "A skilled woodcutter may saw down a tree easy to handle and skilfully strip off all its bark" [NRSV]. Polysemy: 'bark / pomegranate skin', cf. Song 4: 3: {ibrew zkelew n ĩn en aytk' k'o} [Zöhrapēan 1805, 2: 225] "Your temples are like a slice of a pomegranate" [NASB].

Etymology is uncertain. May be a loanword from Syriac {qalāfā} 'folium libri', {qalāfāθā} 'cortex, squama, putamen mali granata' [Olsen 1999: 932].

4. BELLY

Classical Armenian oiovaayn {ոյոյայն} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 570. i-stem. Contexts where the generic meaning 'belly' can be supposed are scant and marginal in the Classical Armenian corpus, but it seems that the basic term is օրօրայն, which shows polysemy: 'stomach / womb', and potentially a more generic sense 'belly', cf. Gen. 3:14: {i veray lañ ac' ew orovayni k'ò gnasc'es, ew hoł keric'es zamenayn awurs kenac' k'oc'} [Zöhrapean 1805, 1: 11] "on your belly you will go, and dust you will eat all the days of your life" [NASB]. For 'stomach' and 'womb', cf.: 1Cor. 6: 13: {Kerakur orovayni, ew orovayn kerakroy} [Zöhrapean 1805, 4: 410] "Food is for the stomach and the stomach is for food" [NASB]; Lk. 1: 44: {xalac' c'ncalov manuks yorovayni imum} [Künzle 1984: 137] "the baby leaped in my womb for joy" [NASB]. Etymology is unclear.

The meaning 'abdominal cavity', and potentially the generic sense 'abdomen', can be alternatively expressed by p^hoi {փոյ}, o- or i-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 733]. Mtth. 12: 40: {ēr Yoovnan i kitin zeris tiws ew zeris gišers} [Künzle 1984: 31] "Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the sea monster" [NASB]; Job 21: 24: {P'orn nora li ē čarpov} [Zöhrapean 1805, 3: 294] "His sides are filled out with fat" [NASB]. This word yields the Modern Armenian term for 'belly'. Etymology is unclear.

A more marginal term is non-inherited kušt {կուշտ}, i/a- or a-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 359], which can be translated as 'belly' and/or 'side of the body'. Judg. 3: 21: {ew a řzurn yğ oy azderē iwormē, ew ehar i kšti Eglomay} [Zöhrapean 1805, 1: 476] "took the sword from his right thigh and thrust it into his belly" [NASB]. Iranian loanword, cf. MPers. kust 'side; district' [Olsen 1999: 888; Durkin-Meisterernst 2004: 215].

5. BIG

Classical Armenian մեծ {մեծ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 462-4. a-stem. Mtth. 27: 60: {ew t'awalec'uc'eal kap'arič' dran gerezmanin vēm mi mec} [Künzle 1984: 80] "and he rolled a large stone against the entrance of the tomb" [NASB].

From PIE megʰh₂-* 'big' [Martirosyan 2010: 459-60].

6. BIRD

Classical Armenian տ^hր^čհ-ուն {թռչուն} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 231. o-stem. Mtth. 6: 26: {hayec'aruk' i t' č'uns erknic'} [Künzle 1984: 15] "look at the birds of the air" [NASB].

Agent noun derived from the verb t^hր^čհ-իմ 'fly' q.v. This new formation is a default term for 'bird (in general)' in Classical Armenian.

The old word haw {հաւ} [Bedrossian 1875-9: 395f.], u-stem., shows polysemy: 'bird / rooster, hen'; cf. Gen. 6:20: {yamenayn hawuc' t' č'noc' ast azgi, ew yamenayn anasnoc' ast azgi} [Zöhrapean 1805, 1: 16] "of the birds after their kind, and of the animals after their kind" [NASB], whereas the word t^hր^čհ-ուն is used as an adposition to haw. Mtth. 26:34: {yaysm gišeri minč'č'ew hawu xawseal ic'ē, oric's urasc'is zis} [Künzle 1984: 3] "this very night, before a rooster crows, you will deny me three times" [NASB]. On rare occasions it can also be used to denote a bird in general, cf. Deut. 22: 6: {ew et'ē dipesc'is bunoy hawuc' a tñ i k'ò i čanaparhi, et'ē i ca řew et'ē i getni} [Zöhrapean 1805, 1: 385] "if you come upon a bird's nest, in any tree or on the ground" [NASB].

From PIE h₃eu-*, cf. Lat. avis 'bird' [Martirosyan 2010: 398 f.].

7. BITE

Classical Armenian xac-an-em ~ xac-at-em {խսծ-սն-եմ, խսծ-ստ-եմ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 269. The morphological variant with the suffix -at- is marked for the iterative aspect. Gal. 5: 15: {et'ē zmimeans xacatic'ēk' ew utic'ēk'} [Zōhrapean 1805, 4: 462] "if you bite and devour one another" [NASB].

The verbal root xac- goes back to late PIE kh₂ed-s-*, cf. Skr. khālati 'chew, bite'; cf. [Martirosyan 2010: 323-4].

8. BLACK

Classical Armenian seaw {սեաւ} (-1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 636. o-stem. Song 5: 11: {Glux nora yoskwoy kap'azeay, varsk' nora k'ncoyk' seaw ibrew zag ntw} [Zōhrapean 1805, 3: 227] "His head is like gold, pure gold; his locks are like clusters of dates and black as a raven" [NASB]. Iranian loanword, cf. MPers. sy'w 'black' [Olsen 1999: 906].

Black hair colour can be referred to by means of the term t^hux {թնխ} 'dark', o-stem, which can also be applied to the colour of dress and the mourning mood [Bedrossian 1875-9: 229]. Mtth. 5: 36: {zi oč kares maz mi spitak a nel kam tux} [Künzle 1984: 11] "Nor shall you make an oath by your head, for you cannot make one hair white or black" [NASB].

Etymology is unclear.

9. BLOOD

Classical Armenian ariwn {արիւն} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 73. n-stem. Mtth. 27: 4: {melay zi matnec'i zariwn ardar} [Künzle 1984: 76] "I have sinned by betraying innocent blood" [NASB].

From PIE h₁esh₂r* (Gr. εἶαο, etc.) [Martirosyan 2010: 138-9].

10. BONE

Classical Armenian osk {ոսկ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 564. ra/era-stem. Lk. 24: 39: {zi ogi marmin ew oskers oč uni} [Künzle 1984: 218] "for a spirit does not have flesh and bones" [NASB].

From PArm. Host-wer-, derived from PIE Host- (Hitt. {ḫštai} 'bone', etc.) [Martirosyan 2010: 553].

11. BREAST

Classical Armenian lanž-k^h {լանջք} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 253. a-stem; pl. tant. Jo. 13: 25: {na ankeal zlayġ awk'n Yisusi asē c'na} [Künzle 1984: 262] "He, leaning back thus on Jesus' bosom, said to him" [NASB].

From PIE h₁lŋǵ^{mh-}* (Olc. lunga 'lung', etc.) [Martirosyan 2010: 304].

12. BURN TR.

Classical Armenian ajλ-εm {այրեմ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 23. Mtth. 3: 12: {ew zardn ayresc'ē anšġ hrov} [Künzle 1984: 4] "but he will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire" [NASB].

From PArm. ayr* 'flame' vel sim., going back to PIE HeHter-* (Av. ātar- 'fire', etc.) [Martirosyan 2010: 63].

The intransitive meaning 'to burn' is expressed by var-im {վար-իմ} [Bedrossian 1875-9: 667]. Is. 5:24: {orpēs va ĩ elēgn i kaycakanc' hroy} [Zöhrapean 1805, 3: 335] "therefore, as a tongue of fire consumes stubble" [NASB]. The origin of varim is unclear.

13. CLAW (NAIL)

Classical Armenian εtungn {եղուն} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 156. n-stem. Deut. 21: 12: {gercc'es zglux nora, ew srbesc'es zetnguns nora} [Zöhrapean 1805, 1: 383] "she shall shave her head and trim her nails" [NASB].

From PIE h₃nog^{w-}* or h₃nog-u-* (Gr. ὄνυξ 'claw; nail', etc.) [Martirosyan 2010: 254 f.].

The main designation of 'claw' is magil {մագիլ}, a-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 446]. Dan. 7: 19: {žanik' nora erkat'ik', ew magilk' nora ptnjik} [Zöhrapean 1805, 3: 683] "with its teeth of iron and its claws of bronze" [NASB]. The etymology is uncertain (see [Martirosyan 2010: 254 f.] s.v. etungn).

14. CLOUD

Classical Armenian amp {ամբ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 17. o-stem. Mk. 9: 7: {elew amp mi hovani i veray noc'a} [Künzle 1984: 108] "a cloud formed, overshadowing them" [NASB].

Presumably a result of contamination between PIE neb^hos-* 'sky' and nb^hro-* 'cloud' [Martirosyan 2010: 49 f.].

15. COLD

Classical Armenian c^hu.t {ցուտ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 718. o-stem. Mtth. 10: 42: {bažak miġ ur c'urt} [Künzle 1984: 26] "a cup of cold water to drink" [NASB].

The etymology is uncertain [Martirosyan 2010: 631].

16. COME

Classical Armenian ga-m {quuġ} (1) / ek-i {tġh} (2).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 110. Suppletive paradigm: ga-m {qu-ū} [imperf.] / ek-i {tġ-h} [perf.]. Mtth. 6: 10: {ekesc'ē ark'ayut'iwñ k'o} [Künzle 1984: 13] "Your kingdom come" [NASB].

The imperfective stem ga- can be derived from PIE weh₂-* 'go', while the perfective one goes back to PIE g^wem-* 'go' (3sg. aor. h₁e-g^wem-t > ekñ*) [Martirosyan 2010: 196, 249]. Perfective.

17. DIE

Classical Armenian mer-an-im {uġnuuġh} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 467. Mtth. 8: 32: {ew dimeac' amenayn eramakñ i darē anti i cov, ew me an ij ursñ} [Künzle 1984: 20] "and the whole herd rushed down the steep bank into the sea and perished in the waters" [NASB].

From PIE mer-* 'die' [Klingenschmitt 1982: 220 f.].

18. DOG

Classical Armenian šun {ġnuġ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 552. Internal inflection: nom.-acc. šun-, obl. šan-. Lk. 16: 21: {ayl ew šunk' ewš gayin ew lizuin zōērs nora} [Künzle 1984: 190] "besides, even the dogs were coming and licking his sores" [NASB].

From PIE k^won-* 'dog' [Martirosyan 2010: 521].

19. DRINK

Classical Armenian əmp-əm {ruġtuġ} (1) / aib-i {uġh} (2).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 197. Suppletive paradigm: əmp-əm [imperf.] / aib-i [perf.]. Mtth. 6: 31: {Zinč' keric'uk' kam zinč' arbc'uk'} [Künzle 1984: 15] "What will we eat?" or "What will we drink?" [NASB].

The imperfective stem continues PIE pi-ph₃-e-* 'drink', whereas the perfective stem goes back to PIE sreb^h-* 'sip, drink' [Martirosyan 2010: 129, 277-9]. Perfective.

20. DRY

Classical Armenian č^hoɹ {չոր} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 587. o-stem. Is. 56: 3: {Es em p'ayt č'ar} [Zōhrapean 1805, 3: 412] "I am a dry tree" [NASB].

The etymological details are obscure, although the connection to Gr. ξηρός 'dry' remains tempting [Martirosyan 2010: 546].

21. EAR

Classical Armenian unk-n {ունկ-ն} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 7. Suppletive paradigm: unk-n {ունկ-ն} ~ akanž {ականջ} [sg.] / akanž-k^h [pl.].

While the plural form (akanž-k^h {ականջ-ք}) is common, its regular singular form akanž {ականջ} is only marginally attested in the early classical texts. The suppletive singulative unkn {ունկն}, n-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 576], is normally used instead. Job 13: 1: {luaw unkn im} [Zōhrapean 1805, 3: 284] "my ear has heard" [NASB].

While unkn can be rather convincingly derived from PIE h₂ews-* 'ear', the precise origin of akanž is unclear [Martirosyan 2010: 21 f., 638 f.].

22. EARTH

Classical Armenian hoč {հող} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 413. o-stem. Gen. 2: 7 {Ew stetc Tēr Astuac zmardn hoč yerkrē} [Zōhrapean 1805, 1: 9] "Then the Lord God formed man of dust from the ground" [NASB].

The term եկիւ {եկիւ}, a- or i-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 169], denotes the world surface as opposed to the sky (see Gen. 2: 7 above).

The noun hoč derives from PIE pelh₂-* 'wide, flat' [Martirosyan 2010: 415].

23. EAT

Classical Armenian ut-εm {ունտւ} (1) / keɹ-ay {կերայ} (2).

References and notes:

While the singular n-stem continues PIE acc.sg. pod-m̄* (cf. Ancient Greek πῶδα, etc.), the plural i-stem probably continues PIE nom. pl. pod-es* [Martirosyan 2010: 535].

The notion 'leg' is expressed by srun {սրուն}, i-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 658]. Dan. 2:33: {ew srunk'n erkat'ik', ew otk'n kēsni yerkat'oy ew kēsni i xec'woy} [Zöhrpean 1805, 3: 665] "its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly of clay" [NASB].

Compared to Ancient Greek θαλερός and may be tentatively derived from PIE *d^h₁-ro-, although the suffixes Arm. -ał- and Greek -εγο- are relatively productive and need not be inherited [Martirosyan 2010: 231 f.].

36. HAIR

Classical Armenian heł {հէլ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 403. o/a-stem. The singular form is used in the collective meaning (a) along with the plural form (b); cf. The origin is unknown [Olsen 1999: 941].

A second candidate is the non-inherited form maz {uūuq} [Bedrossian 1875-9: 446], o-stem, which tends to be constricted to the specific meaning 'a single hair', although it can be used for collective 'hair' as well. Cf. maz in the singular with the collective (a) or singulative (b) meaning, although the plural form is also attested (c); cf. (a) Num. 6:5: {surb kac'c'ē, ačec'uc'eal zvarss mazoy glxoy iwroy} [Zöhrapean 1805, 1: 270] "they shall be holy; they shall let the locks of the head grow long" [NASB]; Is. 7: 20: {yawur yaynmik gercc'ē Tēr <...> zglux ew zmaz otic} [Zöhrapean 1805, 3: 338] "in that day the Lord will shave <...> the head and the hair of the legs" [NASB]; (b) 2Sam. 14: 11: {ank'ī i heroy ordwoy k'o maz i getin} [Zöhrapean 1805, 2: 98] "not one hair of your son [lit. Note the contrastive use of her and maz in (b) above where her is used as a collective notion, while maz denotes the singulative 'a hair'.

Syriac loanword, cf. mezzē 'crines parvi' [Olsen 1999: 932].

37. HAND

The notion 'arm' is expressed by the form bazuk {puqnlq}, a-stem [Bedrossian 1875-9: 87]. Gen. 49: 24: {ew lucan j ṅk' bazkac' noc'a je ṅmb Hzawrin Yakobay} [Zöhrapean 1805, 1: 99] "and his arms were made agile by the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob" [NASB]. Iranian loanword, cf. Classical Armenian es {ես} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 158. Suppletive paradigm: es {tu} [nom.] / is {tu} [acc.] / im [gen.] / in̄ [dat.]. Mtth. 3: 11: {es mkrtem zjezř rov yapařxaruť'iw̄n} [Künzle 1984: 6] "I baptize you [a]with water for repentance" [NASB]. Mtth. 28: 18: {tuaw inj amenayn iřxanut'iw̄n yerkins ew yerki} [Künzle 1984: 82] "all authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth" [NASB].

Nom. es goes back to PIE h₁eg^{h₂}-. The rest of the paradigm goes back to the oblique stem h₁me-, Ancient Greek ἐμε 'my', e.g. acc. is from PArm. en-s*. The variation between im- and in- anlauts of the oblique stem can be explained by internal analogical processes [Schmitt 2007: 116; Martirosyan 2010: 257].

The distribution between the form cunł in the collective meaning (a) and the pl. cung-k^h (b) is unclear; cf. (a) Mk. 15: 19: {i cunr ř eal erkir paganēin nma} [Künzle 1984: 130] "and kneeling and bowing before him" [NASB]; (b) Lk. 5: 8: {ankaw ar cunksn Yisusi} [Künzle 1984: 149] "he fell down at Jesus' feet" [NASB].

47. LIE

Classical Armenian dn-im {դն-իմ} (1) / ed-ay {եդ-այ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 148. Paradigm: dn-im [imperf.] / ed-ay [perf.]. The verb is a mediopassive form of act. dn-em {դն-եմ} / ed-i {էդ-ի} tr. 'put', which can be used in the passive 'be lain (by somebody)' or middle meaning 'be lain (by oneself)'. Mtth. 9: 2: {ew aha matuc'in a rna andamaloyc mi or dnēr i mahičs} "and they brought to him a paralytic lying on a bed" [NASB].

The meaning 'to lie down' (action) may be expressed by means of the complex predicate ank-eal dn-em {անկեալ դնեմ}, cf. Mk. 7:30: {gnac' i tun iwr ew egit leal zdown, ew zdustrn zi anjeal dnēr i mahičs} [Künzle 1984: 103 f.] "so she went home, found the child lying on the bed, and the demon gone" [NASB].

49. LONG

Classical Armenian εak-ayn {էրկ-այն} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 168. *a-*stem. The adjective combines the meanings of the spatial and temporal length. However, the former is not attested in the Bible. Agat'angelos Patmowot'iwon hayoc', 218 {ew ekin berin kars paranac' erkaγns ew stuars, ew kc'ec'in ř uc'in i nerk's} [Agat'angelos 2003: 1407] "so they went and brought long, thick, strong ropes, which they attached and let down inside" [Thomson 1976: 221].

The stem εak-ayn is derived from the replacement of the suffix -a- in εak-ał 'long' {երկ-ալ} which is predominantly attested in the temporal meaning and only marginally in the spatial meaning in the early classical texts. One may assume that the stem εak-ayn developed by analogy with layn 'wide' {լայն} as a way to differentiate the spatial meaning from the temporal one. The form εak-ał goes back to PIE dweh₂-ro-*, cf. Gr. δηρός 'long' [Martirosyan 2010: 265].

50. LOUSE

Classical Armenian anic {անիծ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 33. *o-*stem. The word is attested starting from the Middle Armenian texts, and is widespread in the dialects. Given that it has a secure PIE etymology, it seems legitimate to postulate its existence for the Classical Armenian language.

Details of the formal PIE reconstruction are disputed [Martirosyan 2010: 86-9].

51. MAN

Mtth. 15: 38: {ew ork' kerann ein ibrew ark' č'ork' hazark', t'ot zkanays ew zmankti} [Künzle 1984: 41] "And those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children" [NASB]; Mtth. 1: 16 {Yakovb cnaw zYovsēp' zayrn Maremay} [Künzle 1984: 2] "Jacob was the father of Joseph the husband of Mary" [NASB].

Classical Armenian mis {միս} (1).

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 606. a-stem. Lu. 15: 20: {ənt'ac'aw ənd a tš , ankaw zparanoc'awn nora, ew hambureac' zna} [Künzle 1984: 188] "(his father) ran and embraced him and kissed him" [NASB].

The word has no etymology [Olsen 1999: 941]. Beekes [Beekes 2010: 1556] argues that Gr. φαρυγξ 'throat' is a substratum loanword (cf. the prenasalized suffix -v(γ)γ-). If Beekes is right, the Armenian word may be tentatively derived directly or indirectly from the same source: PGr. p^harung-s* ~ PArm. baranok-s*.

59. NEW

Classical Armenian նոր {նոր} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 533. o-stem. Mtth. 9: 17: {ew oč' arkanen gini nor i tiks hins} [Künzle 1984: 21] "nor do people put new wine into old wineskins" [NASB].

Although there is no doubt that noł {նոլ} goes back to a ro*-derivative from PIE newo-* 'new', the details of the derivation are debatable [Olsen 1999: 31 f.].

60. NIGHT

Classical Armenian gišea {գիշեր} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 119. o-stem. Jo. 9: 4: {gay gišer, yoržam oč' karē gorcel} [Künzle 1984: 247] "night is coming when no one can work" [NASB].

From PIE we(k)s(e)per-* 'evening' [Martirosyan 2010: 215 f.].

61. NOSE

Classical Armenian unč^h-k^h {նւնչ-ք} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 577. a-stem. Elišē, Vasn Vardanač' ew Hoyoc' Paterazm: {kareac' znoc'a unč's ew zakariš s} [Elišē 2003: 739] "he cut off their noses and ears" [Thomson 1982: 229]. The word is alternately glossed as 'moustache; the part between the nose and the mouth'. However, in the Bible it refers exclusively to the body part that is used for breathing (Wis. 15: 15; Ps. 113: 6) and can be cut off (Ezek. 23: 25; the cited context). Therefore, the meaning 'moustache' seems to be unsupported.

A competing lexeme k^hit^h {քիթ}, a-stem, commonly glossed as 'nose' [Bedrossian 1875-9: 749], often applies to the "internal nose", from which or into which something can pass (liquid, hook, etc.), cf. Elišē, Vasn Vardanač' ew Hoyoc' Paterazm: {ew and k'it'sn ew and beran a rhasarak gološij ermaxa in elanēr} [Elišē 2003: 573] "from his nose and mouth issued hot vapor" [Thomson 1982: 98 f.] (cf. also 2Kings 19: 28; Job 40: 21; Prov. 11: 22).

Neither unč^h-k^h nor k^hit^h have secure etymologies [Martirosyan 2010: 638; Olsen 1999: 941 f.].

62. NOT

Classical Armenian oč^h {ոչ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 562. Rom. 14: 21: {law ē oč' utel mi sew oč' ampel gini} [Zōhrapean 1805, 4: 396] "it is good not to eat meat or to drink wine" [NASB].

Most likely, the particle oč^h is to be compared to Gr. οὐκ 'not'. Further etymological details are debatable [Martirosyan 2010: 531].

The prohibitive negation is expressed by the particle mi {մի}, Bedrossian 1875-9: 471. Mtth. 4: 6: {zi mi erbek' harc'es zk'ari zotn k'o} [Künzle 1984: 7] "so that You will not strike Your foot against a stone" [NASB]. From PIE meh₂* [Martirosyan 2010: 468].

It has been suggested that the word is a compounded Iranian loanword [Olsen 1999: 892 f.]; however, Iranian cognates have not been identified for either of its two members.

68. ROOT

Classical Armenian amat {արմատ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 76. o-stem. Mk. 11: 20: {tesin zt'zenin c'amak'eal yarmatoc} [Künzle 1984: 116] "they saw the fig tree withered from the roots up" [NASB].

69. ROUND

Classical Armenian gnd-a-zew {գնդաձեւ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 123. Meaning 'round 3D'. There are no reliable contexts for the meaning 'round 3D' in the classical corpus. But the compound gnd-a-zew 'round 3D' is widely attested from the early post-classical period on [NBHL 1: 565]. It does not seem particularly risky to fill the slot with this term.

Literally 'ball-shaped' with gund {գնդ} 'ball; sphere' and zew {ձեւ} 'form; shape'.

69. ROUND

Classical Armenian bolor-ši {բոլոր-շի} (2).

Derived from bolor 'whole, entire', the latter without an entirely convincing etymology [Martirosyan 2010: 178 f.].

70. SAND

Classical Armenian awaz {աւազ} (1).

References and notes:

71. SAY

Classical Armenian as-em {աս-եմ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 64. Mtth. 5: 18: {amēn asem jez} [Künzle 1984: 10] "truly I say to you" [NASB].

The origin is debatable; probably from PIE dekʷ-* 'perceive' [Klingenschmitt 1982: 228].
The meaning 'to look' (controlled action) is expressed by hay-el {huyhū} [Bedrossian 1875-9: 523], cf. Mtth. 19: 26: {hayec'aw i nosa Yisus ew asē} [Künzle 1984: 51] "looking at them Jesus said to them" [NASB]. Perhaps from PIE peh₂-* 'guard; look after' [Martirosyan 2010: 386 f.].

85. THAT

Classical Armenian ay=n { այն } (1) / ay=d { այդ } (2).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 21. Mtth. 8: 28: {zi č'ēr hnar anc'anel umēk' and ayn čanaparh} [Künzle 1984: 19 f.] "that no one could pass by that way" [NASB]. Derives from the demonstrative pronominal stem PIE no-*.

The Classical Armenian deictic system is ternary: ay=s 'this (near the speaker)' / ay=d 'that (near the addressee)' / ay=n 'that (far from the speaker and the addressee)' [Clackson 2008: 134]. Each stem consists of an old demonstrative morpheme modified with a deictic proclitic ay-*. Schmitt 2007: 120 f. 93. WARM (HOT)

Classical Armenian ջԷԼ-մ {ջԷղ-մ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 621. o-stem. Polysemy: 'warm / hot'. 1Kings 21:6: {dnel a iġ i hac'j erm yawurn yorum a řzayn} [Zöhrapean 1805, 2: 49] "to be replaced by hot bread on the day it is taken away" [NASB]. Rev. 3: 15: {gitem zgercs k'o oġ' c'urt e sew oġ' j erm} [Zöhrapean 1805, 4: 559] "I know your deeds, that you are neither cold nor hot" [NASB].

From PIE *ǵ^{wh}er-mo-, cf. Ancient Greek θερμός 'warm', etc. [Martirosyan 2010: 556 f.].

95. WE

Classical Armenian մԷ-կ^h {մէք} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 469 f. Paradigm: mε-k^h [nom.] / mε-ι [gen.]. Jo. 9: 29: {mek' gitemk' zi and zi and Mousisi xawsec'aw Astuac} [Künzle 1984: 249] "we know that God has spoken to Moses" [NASB].

From PIE me-* [Martirosyan 2010: 465 f.].

96. WHAT

Classical Armenian z=inġ^h {զիւն} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 49. Mtth. 16: 26: {kam zinġ tac'ē mard p'rkans and anjin iwrum?} [Künzle 1984: 43] "or what will a man give in exchange for his soul?" [NASB].

Historically, initial z- is an object marker that spread from the accusative to the nominative case (but not to other cases, cf. instr. iw), as part of the lexicalization process differentiating the interrogative pronoun from the indefinite pronoun inġ^h 'something'. The etymology is unclear. It is tempting to derive the nominative morpheme inġ^h from the Proto-Indo-European relative/interrogative pronoun neut. k^wi-* 'what; which', as opposed to anim. k^wo-* 'who; which' (wherefrom Arm. ov 'who') [Schmitt 2007: 123 f.]. However, loss of initial k^w-* is irregular.

97. WHITE

Classical Armenian spitak {սպիտակ} (-1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 651. Mtth. 5: 36: {zi oč kares maz mi spitak a nel kam t'ux} [Künzle 1984: 11] "Nor shall you make an oath by your head, for you cannot make one hair white or black" [NASB].

The etymology is unclear. It is tempting to derive the nominative from the PIE relative/interrogative anim. pronoun k^wo-* 'who; which', as opposed to neut. k^wi-* 'what; which' (wherefrom Arm. zinč 'what') [Schmitt 2007: 123 f.]. However, loss of initial k^w-* is irregular.

99. WOMAN

Classical Armenian kin {կին} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 343. Irregular paradigm: kin {կին} [nom. sg.] / kn-ož {կն-ոջ} [gen. sg.] / kn-aw {կն-աւ} [instr. sg.] / kan-ay-k^h {կաւն-այ-ք} [nom. pl.], etc. Polysemy: 'woman (adult human being of the female sex) / wife'; cf. Mtth. 15: 38: {ew ork' kerann ēin ibrew ark' č'ork' hazark', t'ot zkanays ew zmankti} [Künzle 1984: 41] "And those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children" [NASB]; Lk. 1: 5: {ew kin nora i dsterac' Aharovni} [Künzle 1984: 134] "he had a wife from the daughters of Aaron" [NASB].

From PIE g^wenh₂-* 'woman' [Martirosyan 2010: 363 f.]. The oblique stem g^wnh₂-ey-* is an isogloss shared by Armenian with Ancient Greek γυν-αι-κ- and Phrygian κναικ- 'woman; wife'.

Classical Armenian det-in {դեղին} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 138. o-stem. The adjective is not attested in the Bible and in the early original texts. Yet its early age is supported by the derivatives, cf. detn-an-al {դեղինաւ} 'become yellow' in Agat'angelos Patmowt'iwon hayoc', 618 {hayim and mard, ew eresk' amenayn ibrew i goyn dalkan detnac'eal šj in} [Agat'angelos 2003: 1595] "I look at man; and all faces have turned into the color of paleness" [Thomson 1970: 221].

From PIE delh₁-* 'yellow; green' [Martirosyan 2010: 231 f.].

101. FAR

Classical Armenian heri {հերի} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 401. Mk. 12: 34: {č'es he i yark'ayut'enē Astucoy} [Künzle 1984: 119] "you are not far from the kingdom of God" [NASB].

The etymology is unclear. May be tentatively connected to Goth. fairra 'far' [Martirosyan 2010: 404].

102. HEAVY

Classical Armenian can-ı {ծան-ը} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 306. r/u-stem. Mtth. 23: 4: {kapem be ins canuns} [Künzle 1984: 61] "they tie up heavy burdens" [NASB].

The origin is unclear [Olsen 1999: 164].

103. NEAR

Classical Armenian mawt {մաւտ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 489 f. Mk. 11: 1: {mawt i lea n jit'eneac} [Künzle 1984: 114] "near the Mount of Olives" [NASB].

No secure etymology. May be tentatively compared to OE mōt 'gathering' [Martirosyan 2010: 451 f.].

A less likely candidate is Classical Armenian meł {մեղ} [Bedrossian 1875-9: 469], as in Mtth. 24:32: {gitēk' i ē merj ē ama n} [Künzle 1984: 66] "you know that summer is near" [NASB]. From PIE me-g^hsr-i* 'at hand', Gr. μεχρη 'as far as' [Martirosyan 2010: 465].

104. SALT

Classical Armenian at {ադ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 9. i-stem. Mk. 9: 50: {barwok' ē at, et'ē atn anhamesc'i, iw hamemesc'i} [Künzle 1984: 110] "salt is good; but if the salt becomes unsalty, with what will you make it salty again?" [NASB].

The details on the reconstruction of the exact shape of the PIE lexeme are disputable [Martirosyan 2010: 24, 40 f.]. The comparison of the Armenian word to Gr. ἅλς 'salt' makes it tempting to reconstruct a dialectal PIE form sal-s* 'salt'.

105. SHORT

Classical Armenian karč {կարճ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 335 f. Koriwn, The Life of Mashtots, Ch. 8: {zamenayn əntrut'iwons nšanagrac'n znrbagoyinn ew zlaynagayinn, karčn ew zerkayinn} [Koriwn 2003: 260] "all the variations of the letters, thin and heavy strokes, long and short" [Koriwn 1980: 279].

The origin is unknown [Olsen 1999: 963].

106. SNAKE

Classical Armenian awz {աւձ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 758. i-stem. Lk. 10: 19: {aha etu jez išxanut'iwon koxel zawjs ew zkaričs} [Künzle 1984: 170] "behold, I have given you authority to tread on serpents and scorpions" [NASB].

From h₂eng^w-i-* [Martirosyan 2010: 153].

107. THIN

Classical Armenian nu.xb {նւխբ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 538. i-stem. Only derivatives are attested in the relevant contexts, cf. the secondary adjective nu.xb-agoyn {նրբ-ազոյն} in Koriwn, The Life of Mashtots, Ch. 8: {zamenayn əntrut'iwons nšanagrac'n znrbagoyinn ew zlaynagayinn, karčn ew zerkayinn} [Koriwn 2003: 260] "all the variations of the letters, thin and heavy strokes, long and short" [Koriwn 1981: 279]. Apparently no lexical opposition between 'thin 2D' and 'thin 1D'.

May be tentatively compared to ON snófr 'quick', snéfr 'narrow; quick' [Olsen 1999: 80].

108. WIND

Classical Armenian hotm {հոռմ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 414. o-stem. Mtth. 8: 27: {ew holmk' ew cov hnazandin nma} [Künzle 1984: 19] "even the winds and the sea obey him" [NASB].

Possibly from PIE h₂onh₁-mo-* (cf. Ancient Greek ἄνεμος 'wind', etc.) with loss of the internal laryngeal and dissimilation -nm- > -lm- > -lm- [Martirosyan 2010: 416].

No secure etymology [Olsen 1999: 127].

110. YEAR

Classical Armenian am {ամ} (1).

References and notes:

Classical Armenian: Bedrossian 1875-9: 13. a-stem. Mk. 5: 25: {ew kin mi ēr i te ĩtesut'ean arean zerkotasan am} [Künzle 1984: 96] "a woman who had had a hemorrhage for twelve years" [NASB].

From PIE s(e)mh₂-* 'year; summer' [Martirosyan 2010: 45 f.].
