52. MANY

Ngalakan yar? # (1).

References and notes:

Alternative candidate: wa[aman? 'a lot, many' (noun and adjective) [Merlan 1983: 212] (also has the meaning 'all', q.v.). According to [Merlan 1983: 71], "many can be expressed by yar?, wa[aman? and a variety of other terms". Cf. the following examples: "You have a lot of (yar?) mothers" [Merlan 1983: 54]; "Many (wa[aman?-yi?) want to build a new camp, because they're (too) many (puru=yar?)" [Merlan 1983: 100]; "That time I told you about when we got flooded out there (drowned), there weren't a lot of (yar?-molk) old people, not at all" [Merlan 1983: 140]; "Now he was coming from the north, there was not one, there were many (yar?) (kangaroos), he was coming from the north, that plains kangaroo" [Merlan 1983: 154, 157]; "The profane food will be eaten by a lot of (wa[aman?-yi) others, even children..." [Merlan 1983: 175, 176]; "The Ngalakan grew, here there are a lot (yar?), they multiplied right here" [Merlan 1983: 179, 182]; "He/she has a lot of (yar?) sweethearts" [Merlan 1983: 201].

53. MEAT

Ngalakan taŋku # (1).

References and notes:

Ngalakan: Merlan 1983: 200. Glossed as 'flesh food (including beef)'. GU-class noun. Alternative candidate: ɟay 'animal / flesh food' (GU-class noun) [Merlan 1983: 212]. (when) we (want to) eat our meat (ɟay-yik:i)" [Merlan 1983: 186, 187], "I hung the meat (ɟay) up" [Merlan 1983: 187].

190], "I had no (vegetable) food, and (moreover) no meat (ku=taŋku-t:i)" [Merlan 1983: 209], "Hey, you finished up my meat (ŋuku=ŋay!)" [Merlan 1983: 215]. It is clear from the examples above that both words can denote meat as food, and there is also no evident difference in frequency (anyway, the number of examples is too small). Finally, both words have cognates in related languages, so the choice between them is quite arbitrary.

54. MOON

References and notes:

Ngalakan: Merlan 1983: 199. Masculine noun.

Only for the latter word are there some illustrative sentences: "There the two were hanging (= perching precariously) on the hill (piŋ-ka?)" [Merlan 1983: 41], "They looked at/surveyed the country from the hill (piŋ-ʔwala)..." [Merlan 1983: 146], "He might fall off the stone/hill (= piŋ-wala)" [Merlan 1983: 211], "The hill protrudes, is high (ku=ku=piŋ-woŋ)" [Merlan 1983: 215].

It seems that kajna? appears in illustrative sentences somewhat more frequently than ɲoɲʔ-ɲoɲʔ, and moy-moy does not appear there at all. However, the number of occurrences is too small to make any conclusions.
